Socio-Economic Status

Socio-economic status (SES), as measured by factors such as income and educational attainment, is highly related to health status. Numerous health disparities are linked to inequalities in SES.

Mechanisms by which SES contributes to health status include barriers to access of quality health care and prevention, environmental and behavioral factors, and generally high levels of stress. Data on educational attainment and income status, as presented below, are obtained through the Maine Department of Education and the U.S. Census.

Disability

Having a disability is associated with higher rates of poverty, unemployment, physical inactivity, obesity, pain, sleeplessness, depression and anxiety. Many people with disabilities have inadequate medical access and care, and experience social isolation.

Defining disability is difficult. In this document, we have defined an adult with disabilities as someone who has an activity limitation or a health problem requiring special equipment. For children, we present information on children in special education as a proxy for disability status.

For more information about adults with disability in Maine, contact the Office of Adults with Cognitive and Physical Disability Services www.maine.gov/dhhs/OACPDS/DS/. For information about children, please contact the Children with Special Health Needs program at the Maine Center for Disease Control and Prevention: www.maine.gov/dhhs/boh/cshn/.
